

Explore The Microscopic World!

Visit the Davidson Farmers Market on Saturday, Sept. 16th, and see the world under a microscope. STEAMfest and Davidson Lands Conservancy have partnered this week to promote the upcoming Run 4 Green event. You can find our tents next to the playground. Using a powerful video microscope, we'll be examining water and moss samples collected on local greenways looking for tardigrades (water bears) and other tiny animals. This is a unique opportunity to see some of the smallest members of our ecosystems in a world normally hidden from the naked eye.

These FREE activities are presented by the STEAMfest team of Woodlawn School and are open exclusively to youth and families visiting the Davidson Farmers Market.

The mission of STEAMfest is to provide youth of all ages with free opportunities to Imagine, Discover, and Explore topics in Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Mathematics through fun and engaging hands-on activities.

On Sunday, March 24, the Woodlawn campus will host STEAMfest 2024. With over 100 free hands-on activities, educational vendors, artisans, food trucks, and entertainment, STEAMfest is the largest STEM+Arts festival in North Carolina. Visit <https://wsteamfest.org/> to learn more.

The Davidson Lands Conservancy's mission is to conserve local lands and natural resources, connect lives to nature, and promote a conservation ethic. They advance this mission through education and through four conservation pillars or programs: land conservation and stewardship; greenways and trails; urban forestry; and wildlife habitat.
